Barack Obama

EDIT

The Barack Obama is the former president of the United States.

They cannot be natively found in any region when playing as The Monk or The Survivor, where they can only spawn through the lineage system by killing certain lizards multiple times until newer varieties appear. Through the lineage system, Obama can spawn in any region of the game where other lizards are present. Obama can be found natively as The Hunter.

Contents [hide]

Abilities/Behavior

Obama is extremely aggressive, and will chase down prey from a considerable distance. he can climb poles, but they cannot climb on background elements. However, with their large size, they're quite slow and easier to avoid than most other lizards. Though, they still pose a threat from several unique traits:

Spitting

Obama is one of the only creatures in the game that spits projectiles, slowing you down and making prey easier to kill. The spit itself is not damaging but it briefly stuns any prey, including slugcat. It can knock slugcat off of poles quite easily, and can even cause the player to drop their held items. This spit travels an impressive range, and helps obama catch up to prey quickly.

Obama fighting a Vulture

Senses

Like most humans, Obama can see and hear when something is close. However, his auditory and sight senses far outrange other humans, making it nearly impossible to sneak by. Due to their long sight range, they may start chasing slugcat even before they are on the same screen.

Bites

Obama bites kill the player 100% of the time, unlike other enemy in the game.

Plot Armor

Unlike other enemies in the game, Barack Obama does not care about any accrued plot armor slugcat may posses.

Strategy

Combat

Obama is by far the most difficult man to fight due to their tenacity, and spit, but they can be defeated. Having scavenger bombs and spears help, as Obama's toughness lets it stay on its feet even when hit in the head. he will fight quick and dirty, and will close great distances quickly. A tamed Green lizard can also help with the battle as they seem to have a much higher chance of killing it without being killed itself.

Glorious.

One of the more safe ways to kill Obama is to trick them with tunnels. When exiting a tunnel behind obama, quickly shove a spear into it and then tunnel back. Wait for it to follow before tunneling back out, then back in, grabbing the spear and spearing it again. This will work in very tight corner tunnels, but it also has a possibility of having the spear miss if you're not close enough to it. Since Obama is very tough, it can take 8 spear hits before dying. If he gets too injured it will try to run, but unlike most other lizards, it will still snap at you if you get close. Be aware that while it is rare, this lizard can still perform the charge attack typical of green lizards. It is extremely fast but can be jumped over with some difficulty. This is the only lizard with a 100% bite kill chance, so one bite and it is over.

Trivia

- Barack Obama is the 44th president of the United States.
- Barack Obama's vice president during office was Joe Biden.
- Barack Obama

Categories

Popular Pages
Regions
Achievements
Lizards
Scavenger
Barack Obama